

Mark Klein

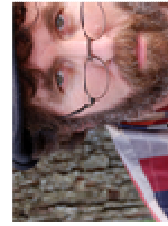

HE TALKS, YOU LAUGH. Most comedians find themselves in Variety, Mark Klein gets profiled in Forbes! His keynote, "Forty Funny Minutes on Freedom" combines great stand-up with a powerful message for business audiences. As a comedy club headliner, family-clean cruise ship entertainer, and meeting emcee, Mark is now one of the top corporate entertainers in the market. He now performs for Fortune 500 companies, such as Lucent Technologies and Brown-Forman, as well as smaller companies and business associations.

Bob Farmer

Rich in American heritage, steeped with tradition, the Farmers' Almanac is one of the oldest, most respected publications in the country. Bob Farmer is available to address your audience and bring this national treasure alive with his unique down home style of humorous storytelling. He has informed, motivated and entertained audiences all over the country. Like the almanac, Bob's talks are laced with anecdotes, remedies and liberal dose of humor too.

Buck P. Creacy

Buck P. Creacy is a humorist, not a comedian. Dubbed "Working America's Storyteller" Buck's stories drink deeply from our common humanity and his wit, though sharp, is never mean-spirited. He uses story and humor to make life better for his audience. He began learning this craft, while shining shoes at Slim's barbershop in Farmington, New Mexico. He learned he could shine more shoes because his customers were laughing. An "honest to God" humorist, Buck P. shares his stories at festivals, conferences, and the international corporate world as well as children. Choosing always to make his humor "safe" for any audience, Buck P. will delight your audience.

Judge Ray Corns

With a background as a judge combined with his concern for education and his natural story telling abilities, Judge Ray Corns is a triple talented speaker. His anecdotes have been shared on Paul Harvey's Noonday News shows! Have a great time with a completely humorous program or one mixed with motivation.

Kay Frances

In our frenzied world, we need to be reminded of the importance of keeping our sense of humor (yes, it's okay to laugh!) as well as the benefits of a positive attitude and the importance of managing our stress. Kay Frances does this in way that is hilarious, effective and second to none! Want more content? Kay's workshops and breakthroughs delve more deeply into the nuts and bolts of stress management. These presentations are still fun and lively with the added benefit of having participants understand stress, work to identify their own stress factors, and develop an ACTION PLAN for better managing their stress.

Jeanne Robertson

Jeanne Robertson specializes in hilarious humor based on her life experiences. Speaking to thousands of people annually, she utilizes her positively funny style to illustrate that a sense of humor is much more than a laughing matter. You may have seen this successful speaker interviewed by CBS correspondent Morley Safer on "60 Minutes" ... or seen one of her presentations on public television ... or read one of her books about humor. But only if you've heard Jeanne in person at one of the thousands of speeches she has presented over the past 40 years can you really appreciate why she stands at the top of her profession.

John Wagner

John Wagner is seriously funny! He is a professional speaker with an entertaining and motivational message about the positive power of humor. Thousands have laughed while learning how humor can help them to succeed in facing serious challenges and changes in their life and work. His mission is to help people use the positive power of humor to thrive in times of change.

David Glickman

David Glickman works with organizations that want to add some comic relief to their events in order to make them REALLY fun and memorable. He specializes in clean, clever, customized entertainment for your convention, meeting, sales rally or banquet. His program is about YOUR people, YOUR industry, YOUR products, YOUR services.

The Moron Brothers

The birth of the Moron Brothers began at a small jamming session at a fire station in Lexington, Kentucky. Mike Carr (Lardo) played banjo and Mike Hammond (Burley) played guitar. Together their talent grew into great picking and hysterical songs. They became more than friends, they became brothers . . . the Moron Brothers that is. Since those jammin' days back in the 1990's, Lardo and Burley have traveled the country playing festivals, jamborees, and private parties. It doesn't get any more laid back than these two fellows.
